

BMT for Safety Conference Synopsis – 19th November 2015

Doors open at 8.00am for an 8.30am start. The day ends at 4.00pm

Speaker	Talk
Bob Cummins	It's Not Me, It's You - What's Wrong with Safety and Why We Don't Care Bob will discuss why a lot of the common and current safety strategies are preventing the majority of companies from improving their health and safety performance. He will argue that the biggest barrier most face is the reinforcement that they currently receive for their flawed and outdated beliefs.
Howard Lees	Power Coaching Howard will discuss the premise behind his new book 'Power Coaching' and how coaching can increase wellbeing across an organisation. He will explain the behavioural coaching process he has developed over the years and share anecdotes regarding various stereotypical coaching 'ups and downs'.
Craig Reade	The Behavioural Soundness of Scored Inspections/Audits Eight20 are embarking on a different approach with Scored Inspections to generate a genuine improvement in health and safety on site rather than just a box ticking exercise. Craig will discuss what is being done to make these inspection/audits positive sources of feedback which provide an opportunity to improve.
Alan Cheung	T+9 Alan will talk about the behavioural journey Costain have made over the last 9 years and why behavioural leadership is the key to delivering sustainable improvements to their health and safety performance as well as the company culture and wider business. He will discuss how behaviours can be predicted, and why framing things differently makes a real difference.
Andrea Quinn	Wellbeing Andrea will talk about how to turn well-intentioned but sometimes patronising strategies for wellbeing into something that may actually make a difference.
Rachel Edwards	Sticky behaviours Do some people have addictive personalities? Are some people just better at self control? Rachel's talk will focus on what determines which behaviours people acquire into their repertoires, and also how to make it more likely that workplace behaviours are safe, healthy and productive.
Jag Chima	The One Team Approach Jag Chima will explain how the award-winning Bond Street Station Upgrade One Team is working between London Underground and the Costain-Laing O'Rourke Joint Venture.

BMT for Safety Conference Synopsis – 19th November 2015

Doors open at 8.00am for an 8.30am start. The day ends at 4.00pm

Speaker	Talk
Joanne Lees	Case Studies – The Best of the BIPs Joanne will share some of the best and most memorable case studies from BMT courses, and inspire you to try something new.
Alison Stairmand	Wellness in Schools and Beyond Alison will discuss differing styles of learning in schools and the effects these have on the both the wellness of children in both the short and long terms.
Katrina Bilella	The Confidence Cycle Katrina will discuss her U.S. cross country cycling trip, the pattern of incidents that occurred, and how they could have been prevented.
Bruce Faulkner	Careless Leadership: Treating the Complicated as Obvious Bruce will discuss how treating the complicated as obvious sets up rules that inevitably end up being violated. He will argue that the insensitivity of the rules to the reality of working environment testifies to careless leadership.

To book your place, visit our website.

